The Eagle Mark II Carbine, with instant interchangeability from .45 ACP to 9mm Parabellum, is a perfect weapon for civil defense units, plant guards, auxiliary police, and home protection. More than four years of careful development by experts in firearms have resulted in a weapon of foolproof design and positive dependability.

The Eagle Carbine is an auto-loading firearm, not a machine gun, and no special license is required for its possession or sale. Its mechanism is engineered so that full automatic fire is prevented absolutely and cannot occur even through wear or breakage of parts. It is a particularly safe and effective weapon for training preliminary to firing the fully automatic sub-machine gun, and ideal for police department use.
